OVERVIEW OF THE ISSUE

In their vast wisdom, our Founders created a decentralized election system, making it much more difficult for a potential tyrant in Washington, D.C. to control elections. This is also why, thankfully, there is no “Federal Office of Election Security,” or similar. That is a very, very good thing! However, that does mean that the duty to ensure our elections are honest, fair, transparent, and trustworthy falls to we the people.

When radical, ideologically-driven, anti-American activists who believe that the ends justify the means are the only ones with the authority to administer elections, watch the process, make decisions, and take action if something is amiss, our elections will never be trustworthy. Additionally, many times there are shortages of election workers, and they need more people.

Without patriots like you – people who simply want honest elections – involved in election administration, we will always be wondering what happened when the counting stops because of a “leak,” for example. Pointing out irregularities from the outside is necessary, but it is better to actually be in the room when they happen, so we can try to solve problems right away. When patriots have eyes on the process, it helps us detect any issues quickly and ensures that the polling locations are following state election laws.

Included in this guide are descriptions of each role, why they’re important, why you should sign up to help, and how you can sign up. It must also be stated that those of us who love America and want honest elections want trustworthy results no matter the outcome. We are not in this battle to put our thumbs on the scale for any candidate or party. We genuinely want elected officials to have the consent of the governed, and for the will of the people to be reflected in the results. We want everyone to be able to trust our elections.

Also, remember, the only way to change the policies you care about is to change who makes policy. We can’t do that if our elections are corrupt. Tyrants cannot abide by honest and fair elections because they know they will lose!

The American experiment is in great peril. Those who seek to destroy the United States and rebuild it into a dystopian nightmare do not want you to be a part of the elections process. In fact, their friends in the media continue to push the narrative that you are dangerous and it’s a “threat to democracy” if you become a poll worker. That right there should tell you how essential it is that you get in there and have eyes on the process.

Just like the title of this guide states, in America it must be easy to vote, but hard to cheat. Your involvement is what makes it hard to cheat. Defy the tyrants and help us secure our elections!

In liberty,

Jenny Beth Martin

DESCRIPTIONS OF ELECTION INTEGRITY ROLES

Below are the descriptions of the roles and their related duties. Note: There are other kinds of roles that need to be filled in the world of election integrity, but in an election year, those roles are not as urgent as poll worker, poll watcher, and tabulation observer. We will cover these other roles in separate guide.

POLL WORKER

Poll workers are the people who check voters into the precinct location to vote, hand the voter their ballot or card for the ballot marking device (touch screen computer with ballot), tell the voter where to deposit the ballot in the ballot box, and close the precinct location after voting is over. In short, poll workers are officials responsible for administering and conducting an election in the local precinct. Poll workers are usually paid, and they are more likely to have authority to take action if irregularities occur. Poll workers are allowed to speak inside the precinct, and that communication is the first step in solving problems.

Your state may call this position one of the following titles: poll worker, election official, judge of elections, inspector of elections, judge, inspector, or some other similar title. These "poll workers" are generally hired at the county level by the permanent employees who administer the elections and maintain voter rolls. Those permanent employees may hold one of the following titles: election supervisor, election board, board of elections, board of commissioners, county supervisors, county judges, etc. The titles vary from state to state.

POLL WATCHER

A poll watcher is in the voting precinct while voters vote, silently watching and observing the election process. If the poll watcher sees irregularities, the poll watcher will report those irregularities to the entity (i.e., can be the county political party) that assigned the poll watcher position based on the training received by that entity. Poll watchers have the authority to observe, but in no way interact with the voting process. They have no enforcement or executive authority. Poll watchers simply present the discrepancy to the entity who placed them and that entity will then take appropriate action.

TABULATION OBSERVER

A tabulation observer is like a poll watcher, but instead of watching at a polling center where citizens are voting, you are watching inside of a tabulation center. A tabulation center or tabulation site is used by some jurisdictions as a central location to count mail-in ballots, as opposed to doing it at the precinct level. Tabulation observers, like poll watchers, are also usually appointed by the county political parties. Note that not every state or county has tabulation centers. If your county does not use them, this position will not exist.

HOW DO I SIGN UP?

Generally speaking, if you want to be a poll worker, you will need to reach out to the county employee(s) responsible for hiring those poll workers.

To become a poll watcher or tabulation observer (if applicable), the county party of your choice will likely need to appoint you, though that is not the case 100% of the time.

The easiest way to get started with any of these positions is to fill out the form at HelpAtThePolls.com, and we will send you instructions for the next step to take, because the process and requirements vary from state to state and county to county. Let us help you and take the confusion out by signing up at HelpAtThePolls.com!

IMPORTANT NOTE!

If you think you would like to serve in any of these roles, please sign up NOW. Because many states and counties have a particular process that must be used, it takes a while to get it all done, and there is usually a deadline by which the workers and watchers must be chosen. The sooner you get your application in, the more likely you will get it in on time to be chosen.

Note: Many people on the side of “there should be zero safeguards to protect against cheating” are also the people who call America a democracy. They say no protections against cheating is “defending democracy.” Well, first, corrupt elections defend nothing except the tyrants who don’t want fair and free elections. And second, we aren’t a democracy! We are a republic!

SAMPLE EMAIL/TEXT TO FRIENDS AND NETWORK

Below is a sample email that you can send to your friends and family, encouraging them to answer the call and serve our nation as a poll worker, poll watcher, or tabulation observer (if applicable). You could also send it through messaging apps like Signal or similar. Feel free to customize it as you see fit, and to add in any local information you think would be helpful.

Dear <<Friend's Name>>,

I know that you are just as worried about the security of our elections as I am, so I want to let you know that the only way we can be sure our elections are honest, fair, and transparent are when people like you and me sign up to work as poll workers or poll watchers.

We have to be in the room when voting happens and when the votes are counted to make sure there is no corruption. If we don't have eyes on the process, who will? If it's not us, it will be radical activists who believe that the ends justify the means. I know you simply want an honest election where everyone can trust the results, no matter who wins. If you want to know more about working the election, ask me, or head over to HelpAtThePolls.com and fill out the form for more information!

Please consider passing this email on to other patriots you know as well! Tens of thousands of us are going to be needed this year, so pass it on!

One Important Note Here: Imagine how powerful your messages would be to your friends and family if you could include a statement telling them that you had already signed up and you were going to serve! Other people will be much more likely to sign up if someone they know and trust has already signed up.

OTHER THINGS TO NOTE

- 1 Sign up to serve as a poll worker, poll watcher, or tabulation observer (if applicable) with someone else, especially if you've never done it before. It's always more fun to do new things with friends or family.
- 2 Think about other places you go and groups in which you are involved as potential pools of recruits. For example, school, church, sports teams, hunting buddies, etc. Think through all of the people with whom you interact and know, and whether or not they are people of integrity who care about honest elections. If they are, ask them to serve with you!
- 3 If you know any patriotic, responsible teenagers or college students and they meet the requirements to serve in your state and/or county, ask their parents if they can serve. Or, if they're your own kids, ask them yourself!
